

University of Sunderland
in Northallerton

Your journey
starts here

Campus @ Northallerton

University of Sunderland

Campus @ Northallerton is an exciting new partnership between the University of Sunderland, Hambleton District Council and York College which provides access to further and higher education at a bespoke education hub in Northallerton.

Campus @ Northallerton offers employers and individuals the flexibility to develop new skills to facilitate personal and business growth via a wide range of learning, skills, and education routes. The University of Sunderland will provide higher education programmes through face to face and online delivery at C@N for anyone in the wider North Yorkshire area and beyond to access.

There are many different types of courses available, including short courses, online courses, and higher and degree apprenticeships.

CAMPUS@
NORTHALLERTON

The Education Hub

Free Taster Sessions

We will be delivering free taster sessions to showcase the courses on offer. This is an ideal opportunity to meet and engage with experienced academic staff, professionals and practitioners.

Ask our team for more information on taster sessions available to you.

Short Courses

Campus @ Northallerton offers a range of short courses for people who don't have the time or need for a full undergraduate or postgraduate qualification.

For more information about the range of short courses on offer, contact cape@sunderland.ac.uk.

Sunderland Online

The University of Sunderland has a suite of 100% online degree programmes that have been expertly designed for busy working professionals around the world.

They combine the University's core strengths of high-quality teaching, excellence in student support, and deep expertise in international and distance learning, with 6,000 international students and 1,500 studying by distance learning across the globe. Discover more at: www.online.sunderland.ac.uk

Higher and Degree Apprenticeships

Higher and Degree Apprenticeships are a cost-effective solution for all employers and learners to acquire the latest higher-level industry skills and knowledge.

From September 2022 companies or individuals will be able to select from a range of exciting, cutting-edge apprenticeship programmes spanning a wide range of subject areas. Opportunities will be made available for companies to enrol in tailored and bespoke closed programmes, so the apprenticeship comprises of exactly what you or your business requires, now and in the future.

Find out more at: sunderland.ac.uk/apprenticeships

MTC training

MTC training are one of a number of successful commercial enterprise formed by the University of Sunderland. Founded in 1984, MTC Training provide a wide range of accredited IT and technical training courses designed to upskill employees and support employers. As a Microsoft partner they are also well places to provide key knowledge and informed perspective within the dynamic and ever changing world of IT.

MTC's excellent reputation has been earned through its ability to train delegates in a diverse array of subjects including Microsoft, CEH, Cyber security, ITIL and Project Management. By offering a mix of virtual and classroom experiences they can also adapt to the needs of employee and employers to achieve the best results possible.

Find out more at: mtc-training.co.uk

Our Mission

The University of Sunderland is developing an education hub to support Northallerton and the surrounding areas, which will join our top-class campuses in Sunderland, London and Hong Kong. We are proud to promote our mission to be a "Society Shaping" university, which won us the Times Higher Education University of the Year for Social Inclusion 2021 award, and we are committed to engaging with local communities in all our locations.

Our aspiration is to offer learners the freedom to learn whatever, wherever, and whenever they want. We will offer local people and businesses access to a wide range of learning opportunities right on their doorsteps. The new education hub will be launched with access to a number of our established short-course and degree apprenticeship programmes, and we will work closely with the local community and businesses to continually develop and expand the variety of training offered. It is anticipated that most teaching will be delivered via a 'blended' format, which includes both face-to-face and on-line provision.

If you wish to access any of the courses listed above or if you are an employer/organisation, seeking new opportunities to develop your workforce skills, please contact the University of Sunderland CaPE team for more information.

cape@sunderland.ac.uk

0191 515 3361
